Making curriculum work for us.

Professor Martin Westwell will lead this day. The goal of this workshop is to support teachers to reconceptualise curriculum beyond a simple statement of scope and sequence.

You will be introduced to a range of processes designed to support you in your work and see the strategic intent of the SA approach to working with curriculum, from the big picture through to the actual interaction of working with learners on a daily basis

The workshop will assist you as teachers to identify the essence of the Learning Area discipline, the conceptual threads across the levels of learning and the patterns across the Learning Areas that support teacher planning and programming. You will become familiar with such terms as fluency and fluency plus, "Dan Meyering" and the 3 legged stool of Engagement.

Looking Forward to seeing you all there.
